

Aloe Vera

Aloe vera, the magic wand of nature

The lancet-shaped leaves of the Aloe Vera are fleshy, broad and thick and contain a gel-like sap. This gel has multiple properties that are beneficial to your health. In other words the best of what nature has in store processed into a mattress cover that provides greater wellness...

The healing effect of Aloe Vera on the skin has been known for a very long time. The gel in the leaves of Aloe Barbadensis Miller contains at least 160 valuable, purely biological substances including enzymes, vitamins, minerals, essential fatty acids and amino acids. Scientific research has clearly demonstrated the beneficial action Aloe Vera on the skin. A mattress fabric treated with Aloe Vera is not just very pleasant to sleep on, it is also very effective at the energy level.