

CoolMax[®]

CoolMax[®] is the original performance fabric for sportswear that's been helping top athletes push harder and longer but is now also being used in mattress ticking to provide more cool comfort during the night... CoolMax[®] regulates the body's moisture secretion during the night and actually reduces perspiration during the night. Moisture control tests have shown that CoolMax[®] dries considerably faster than other absorbent fabrics. CoolMax[®] is the ideal mattress fabric, thanks to a unique combination of specific properties. CoolMax[®] is moisture-regulating because it reduces night time perspiration, air permeable and fast-drying while also being absorbent.
